Come explore a different approach to worship, community and connection with UUs from across the Capital Region and Hudson Valley. Dr. Glen Thomas Rideout, along with our region's ministers and our singers and musicians, will lead us in a new way of using music and of blending our voices together to bring our UU faith to life.

ON SATURDAY, join us at 9am to worship and sing together, then travel (by foot and by car) to West Capitol Park to lend our voices and presence to support the March for Our Lives. We will then return to Albany UU around 11:30am to have a soup lunch and begin singing together around noon. You don't have to read music – or be an adult! – to join us. All are welcome!

Our SUNDAY WORSHIP will be a joyous celebration at Doane Stuart School.

This weekend will be a unique opportunity to explore and learn from a gifted UU leader. Please join us for either or both of these events.

Details and Information for Singing Our Faith To Life

Our time together on Saturday will be about embodied theology. We will experience the richness of community, connection, justice, joy, and our faith – through singing together, learning together, and acting together, thanks to the call of our youth to support and show up for the March for Our Lives. Even for those who don't identify as music people, there is much we can learn about answering the call of love from one of the most gifted leaders of our faith.

On Sunday, we will engage a multigenerational experience, learning how we can deepen our faith through music and what singing together teaches us about being together.

Join us for one or both of these amazing experiences.
